PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Third year Lighting Design student studying at the Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, spending free time depping on the West End.

After getting interested in the technical side of theatre while in school, I have followed this career path after leaving, joining the technical crew at a ~250 seat venue in the north of the UK, before starting university in London. I am trained in all production-related workflows from lighting design through to programming, show documentation creation and lighting operation.

I am hoping to increase my industry connections as well as improve my design, programming and plan drawing abilities to bring them all up to a professional level.
